Helpful Hints

I know a lot of jokes are made of men using "duck tape." Well, I am one of these men. I use duck tape on the front of my feeders to write: doe/buck, date of birth, rabbit's name, and the names of its parents. It doesn't get knocked off or blown away in the wind. I also use it on the top of the door frame of the rabbit cage, except a little larger. This helps a lot when it's 2:15 A.M. and you are running around the barn pulling rabbits out for a show. Especially when you have a lot of new young juniors tattooed. I also take a piece of card board and draw a map of the barn with the name of each rabbit on it. I leave the "map" at the place in the barn where I load my carrying cages.
